MARYLAND GAZETTE,

Containing the freſheſt Advices, Foreign and Domeſtic.

WEDNESDAY, Auguſt 24, 1748.

AIX LA CHAPELLE, May 13.

THE Count de St. Severin, miniſter plenipotentiary from the court of France, gave yeſterday a grand entertainment to all the plenipotentiaries, as the count de Caunitz will do this Day, which is the anniverſary of the birth of her Imperial majeſty, who enters now the thirty ſecond year of her age. His excellency expects by the 10th the return of the courier diſpatched to Vienna with the preliminaries, and it is generally expected that he will receive orders to ſign them, and the ratification of thoſe preliminaries at the ſame time.

The ſubſtance of the preliminary articles lately ſign'd here, are as follows:

I. ALL the former treaties ſhall be eſtabliſhed as the foundations of theſe preliminaries, and ſhall be renewed, except in ſuch points as may have been alter'd by ſubſequent treaties, or in which they ſhall be alter'd by any of theſe articles.

II. All the conqueſts that have been made from the beginning of the preſent war, as well in Europe as in the Eaſt and Weſt Indies, ſhall be reſtored.

III. Dunkirk ſhall remain fortified in the ſame manner as at preſent on the land ſide, but towards the ſea ſhall be reduced to the condition ſtipulated by treaties.

IV. The dutches of Parma, Placentia and Guaſtalla, ſhall be left to the royal infant Don Philip, but the reverſion ſhall be reſerved to the preſent poſſeſſor, in caſe either the king of the Two Sicilies ſhall ſucceed to the crown of Spain, or the infant Don Philip ſhall die without leaving poſterity.

V. The duke of Modena ſhall be re-eſtabliſhed in all his former poſſeſſions, or at leaſt ſhall receive a ſatisfaction for whatever cannot be reſtored.

VI. The republic of Genoa ſhall be re-eſtabliſhed in the enjoyment of all that ſhe poſſeſſed in the year 1740.

VII. The king of Sardinia ſhall remain in poſſeſſion of all that he had before, and of all that he acquired by ceſſion in 1743.

VIII. The king of Great Britain is comprized in theſe articles, in quality of elector of Hanover, and for his electorate.

IX. The king of France and the States General ſhall employ their good offices to obtain from the king of Spain ſatisfaction for a ſum of money, which his Britannic majeſty, as elector of Hanover, claims from his Catholic majeſty.

X. The Aſſiento treaty is confirmed for the number of years during which it has remained ſuſpended.

XI. The fifth article of the treaty of London, dated Auguſt 1, 1718, relative to the ſucceſſion to the throne of Great Britain, is renewed in theſe preliminaries, in the ſame manner as if it were inſerted word for word.

XII. The pretenſion of the Elector Palatine, for ſatisfaction for the loſſes he has ſuſtained, ſhall be referred to a general congreſs.

XIII. The king of Great Britain, the king of France, and the States General ſhall employ their good offices for diſcuſſing, in the congreſs, the differences that have ariſen on the ſubject of the great maſterſhip of the order of the Golden Fleece.

XIV. The Emperor ſhall be acknowledged in his Imperial dignity, by all thoſe powers by whom no ſuch acknowledgment has been hitherto made.

XV. The diſputes with regard to the territory of Hanault, and the abbey of St. Huberg, &c. ſhall be referred to a general congreſs.

XVI. All hoſtilities between the powers at war ſhall ceaſe at land in the ſpace of ſix weeks, to be reckoned from the day of ſigning theſe articles, and at ſea in the time mentioned in an act ſigned at Paris, Auguſt 19. 1712.

XVII. The reſtitutions, of which mention is made in the ſecond article, ſhall not take place 'till ſuch time as the parties intereſted ſhall have acceeded to this preliminary convention.

XVIII. The ceſſions and ſpecific reſtitutions before mentioned, as well as the eſtabliſhment for Don Philip, ſhall be carried into execution at the ſame time.

XIX. All the parties intereſted in the preſent convention, ſhall renew the guaranty to the Pragmatick Sanction in its entire extent, except only ſuch dominions as are already yielded, or are to be yielded in virtue of theſe preliminaries.

XX. The dutchy of Sileſia, and county of Glatz, ſhall be guaranteed to the king of Pruſſia, by all the contracting parties.

XXI. All things that have paſſed in the preſent war ſhall be buried in general oblivion, and every one ſhall be re-eſtabliſhed in the full poſſeſſion of what he heretofore enjoyed.

XXII. All the princes any way intereſted in this ſettlement, ſhall be invited to accede thereto as ſoon as poſſible.

XXIII. In like manner all the princes intereſted in this convention, ſhall reſpectively guaranty the execution thereof.

XXIV. The ratification of theſe preliminaries ſhall be exchanged within the term of three weeks from the day of their being ſigned.

Done at Aix la Chapelle, April 30. 1748.

This convention was ſigned by the earl of Sandwich, the count de St. Severin de Arragon, the count de Bantick, the baron de Waſſanaer, and m. Haſſalaer.

There are ſome ſeparate and particular articles, the diſcuſſion of which are referred to the general treaty.

Nimuegen, May 25. Our laſt advices from Aix-la-Chapelle ſay, that the Empreſs-Queen has acceeded to the Preliminary Articles ſign'd the 30th of laſt Month, and that they doubted not but the King of Sardinia would ſpeedily do the ſame.

And the same afternoon his majesty set out for Hanover.

From the Westminster Journal, May 21.

PUBLIC AFFAIRS: Or, The History of EUROPE.

As there has not yet been time enough since the signing of the preliminaries for us to hear how they have been received at the most remote courts of Europe, we ought to form no conclusions from the language that at present is given us from some of them. At Madrid in particular they talk in the old strain of supporting the Infant Don Philip, and pushing the Italian war for that purpose with vigour. From the several parts of Italy we hear, that the invasion of the Eastern Riviera of Genoa is just upon the point of being executed; and from some of them, that the measures are so well taken by the Austrian general, that, in spite of all the Duke of Richlieu's precautions, they can scarcely fail of success. We have even circumstances to make us believe, that Corsica is by this time actually invaded from the continent, the master of an English ship having reported at Leghorn, that he saw the Transport Fleet, escorted by two English men of war, at the height of the Cavi, in that island, and the troops just ready to land. It is certain, that these transports have three times been driven back to Vado, and still seemed to persist in their enterprize. Nothing of this is to be wonder'd at for the reason above assigned; but it must seem somewhat strange that marshal Belleisle, after having so often put off his departure, should at last suddenly set out for the army in the county of Nice, and that there should be a talk at Paris of sending 60 fresh Battalions to the side of Italy. This does not look much like a suspension of arms in those parts: Tho' some, to solve the difficulty, take only the first part of it, the marshal's departure, and assure us he is gone, not upon a military errand to the army, but upon a political one to Turin. In fact, separate treating seems to be the height of the mode at present: 'Tis said that we were upon it with the Spaniards, before we and the Dutch engaged with France in an Armistice; And some think it not improbable, that the Negotiations on foot may end only in the exchange of certain alliances, and the Recovery of new forces on one side or other. Letters from Paris inform us of an insurrection at Bourdeaux, occasioned by the dearness of bread, which sold for seven Sols a pound; but they add, that the price would soon fall, M. Paris de Montmartell having engaged to import corn from England to the value of eight Millions of Livres, during the suspension of arms: And as several other eminent merchants were very alert in the same way of trade, they doubted not but to have grain enough to keep the people quiet, and to fill the king's magazines too; after which they will be ready for a new Dance, in case the-----have sense and resolution enough not to conclude a definitive treaty upon a rotten, delusive Basis.

NEW-YORK, August 15.

On Monday Evening last arrived here several of the Crew lately belonging to the Ship Hawke, John Vaunce, Master, by whom we have the following Account: That they sail'd from the Capes of Delaware, about the 17th of July last, bound to Barbadoes, and on the 25th of the same Month, in Lat. 34, 65, were attacked by a Spanish Privateer Brig of 16 Carriage and 20 Swivel Guns, and [illegible] Men, called the Grand Diable, Monsieur Offea Commander, belonging to Havanna, and Consort to Don Pedro; with whom they engaged three Glasses, but being weakly mann'd, were boarded and obliged to strike, having first kill'd 17, and wounded as many of the Enemy, without the Loss of one Man on their Side: On this Account they were treated very inhumanly, and their Captain threaten'd to be thrown overboard.—That they were informed by the Enemy, that some Time before they fell in with the Loo Man of War, who fired at them one Broadside, upon which they struck; but their Comfort, Don Pedro, then appearing in sight, the Man of War stood for her, by which Means they escaped.—That they afterwards fell in with the Tremblear Privateer of Philadelphia, who taking them for an English Privateer, sent an Officer with 4 Men on board, whom they secured, and set their Boat adrift: That the Tremblear then stood off, leaving their Officer and Men in their Hands. That the Privateer had taken, they were informed, a Schooner bound from Philadelphia to Jamaica, Anthony Master; and two Days before they were taken, the Privateer also took the Snow Dumb Eagle, John Cottell, Master, of this Port, bound from Ireland and the Isle of May, laden with Salt and Sale Goods, and after taking out of her what they tho't proper, gave her to their Prisoners, 60 in Number, who bore away for this Port; but, falling in to the Eastward of Sandy-Hook, they, with some others were put on shore, and proceeded directly hither; and the Dumb Eagle, with the other Prisoners, are since arrived here.

The same Day arrived here his Majesty's Ship Glasgow, Capt. Lloyd from Boston, with whom came the King's Proclamation, declaring a Cessation of Arms with the French, which on Wednesday last was published in the Fort, in this City, and at the City Hall, with the Solemnity usual on such occasions. And Thursday last the Glasgow sail'd from hence for Virginia, with the Packets for the Southern Governments.

Capt. Lawson who arrived here last Night in three Weeks from Montserat, informs us, that about the 10th of last month, a Snow Man of War arrived there from England, having first touched at Antigua, and brought his Majesty's Proclamation for a general Peace with France and Spain, which was proclaimed there the same Day, under the Discharge of the Cannon of the Fort; that he was present when it was published, and afterwards read it; and intended to have brought a Copy, but Time would not permit. We also hear by this Vessel, that Cape Breton is to be delivered up to the French, upon their repaying the Charge we have been at in taking and keeping that Place. We likewise hear that two Boats had sailed out of Montserrat, at Noon Day, with a full Resolution to take the first Vessel convenient for them to go a-Pirating.

PHILADELPHIA, August 11.

Extract of a Letter from Bethel Township, in Lancaster County, dated May 19, 1748.

---"As the following is an instance of as extraordinary meanness of spirit, cruelty, and inhumanity, perhaps as ever was heard of, I thought it might be of use to expose the same to public View; at least it may be of use to such as are too prone to those Vices, tho' not yet so much abandoned to them as the person who is the subject of this letter. The truth of the facts may be depended upon, as I was myself present last saturday, when several Depositions were taken, which contain most of what is related here, and which the person did not deny, when asked by the magistrate who took the depositions, if he had any thing to object to what had been deposed; the rest of the facts I had from persons in the neighbourhood, who, no doubt, must be supposed to be very dastardly, that for so long a time none of them exerted themselves against so abandoned a creature.

Nicholas Wyrick, a German, in or near Hanover Township, in the upper parts of Lancaster county, a hearty, lusty fellow, I suppose between 20 and 30 years of age, had a Wife and two young children, both girls, the youngest, on whom he exercised his inhumanity, aged, at her death, about 9 months; took it into his head, last winter, that one daughter was sufficient for him to bring up, seeing girls are not commonly so able to labour as boys are.

About last christmas he began to meditate the murder of the infant, which he acknowledged he believed to be his own child, and was no ways dissatisfied upon that account. He began by beating it sometimes with the end of a halter, sometimes with a horse-whip, with great severity; in the most severe weather in winter, in the night-time, he would get out of his bed, and remove all the covering of the little infant upon its face, and leave the other parts of its body expos'd to the cold, imagining as I suppose, if the child were frozen to death, he should thereby avoid the suspicion of murder: When smoaking tobacco, he would almost suffocate it, blowing great quantities of smoke into its mouth, and apply the heated pipe to its face, in order to burn and deface it; and this he practised so often, that he burnt the poor little creature's nose almost away: Oftentimes he'd cram its little mouth quite full of tobacco; sometimes he would place it in a large, cold, iron kettle, in order to freeze it: sometimes he would lift it up on high, and let it fall on the ground; and frequently he'd let it fall from his knee, as if by accident; once he laid its little leg on a bench, sat upon, and broke it, as was supposed; but all that would not do the business he intended; for the leg healed, but remained very crooked. Thus he treated the poor little innocent for more than four months, till he had so far effected his design, and its spirits so much broken, that it would suffer (whatever he inflicted) without cry or tear; so far was it spent and decayed. And last sunday week, while his wife was gone to a neighbour's house, he broke one of its thighs, and with it almost its Heart; for last saturday it expired, and he was committed to Lancaster goal for it. I don't know any word in the English language to express this cruelty by, and hope our language will never admit mit a word into it expreſſive of ſo much inhumanity, and that it may be obliterated out of every other language.

I ſhould have told you, that thoſe who ſaw the poor little babe after its death, ſay, that there was not a thumb's breath, between the crown of its head, and ſoles of its feet, but what was cut, bruiſed and mangled, in the moſt horrid manner imaginable. Surely ſuch unheard of wickedneſs will not eſcape puniſhment."

Yours, &c.

We hear from Lancaſter, that on tueſday the ſecond inſtant, Nicholas Weyrick receives his tryal at the court of Oyer and Terminer held there, being indicted for the murder of his infant daughter as abovementioned. The jury, to the ſurprize of all who attended the trial, or were any way acquainted with the caſe, brought in their verdict MANSLAUGHTER; and he was accordingly puniſhed by burning in the hand. [Reader, What think you? Ought not Twelve men to have been Hang'd in his Place?]

ANNAPOLIS, Auguſt 24.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Philadelphia.

"A Veſſel arrived lately from London, but brings no news. "Our merchants are in great anxiety on account of the num- "ber of Veſſels they expect will turn Pirates. The Loyal Re- "venge, a fine Privateer belonging to St. Kitts, and was re- "paired here laſt fall, have kill'd their Captain and turned "Pirates; alſo another from Monſerrat: They ſuſpect ma- "ny others, and particularly two Engliſh Men of War.

Laſt Thurſday arrived here Capt. Loyall from Madeira, in a Sloop which had been taken from the French by one of our Men of War, and could not be there condemned. She was Condemned here as a legal Prize, and her Cargo, at a Court of Vice-Admiralty held on Monday laſt.

Capt. Barnes in the Snow Chaptank, is arrived at Oxford, from Liverpool, which place he left the 11th of June laſt, when Peace was not proclaim'd there. Capt. Barnes waited a full Month, after he was ready to ſail, with expectation of Peace being proclaim'd, and at laſt, tired with waiting, came away without it. He informs us, that after the commencement of the Ceſſation of Arms, one of our Men of War, which had been out and knew nothing of the Ceſſation, met with and took in the Channel, a French Privateer, on board of which they found a commiſſion to make Reprizals on all the Engliſh Veſſels they could meet with; and that the French Officers and Men were in priſon in order for a ſtrict examination into the Affair.
